

DCE

Discover Contain & Evolve

Item #: 007

Clearance level: LEVEL 1

Description: DCE-007 is a malicious entity known as "The Stretched Accountant" which is a former human subjected to extensive experimentation, resulting in severe physical distortions. It stands approximately 7 feet tall, with unnaturally elongated limbs and a gaunt physique. Its arms extend down to its knees, giving it a disproportionate appearance. The entity's face is hollow and skeletal, characterized by sunken eyes in deep sockets. The skin is pale, with prominent veins visible beneath the surface, suggesting a lack of normal circulation. It is dressed in tight fitting office attire that surprisingly continues to look clean.

Anomalous Properties:

DCE-007's arms and legs possess a degree of flexibility that exceeds normal human capability, allowing it to reach around corners or extend its limbs in unnatural ways.

Auditory Sensitivity: The entity is highly responsive to sounds, particularly footsteps, breathing, or movement. It becomes more aggressive and actively pursues the source of the sound, indicating an enhanced sense of hearing.

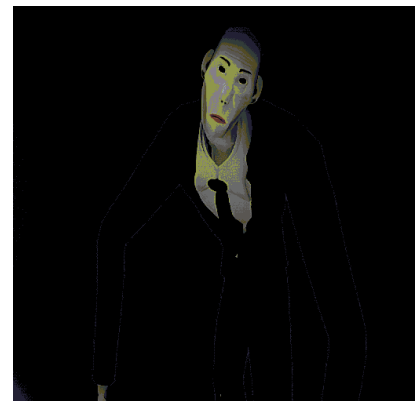

Image of DCE-007

Containment Procedures:

The Stretched Accountant is to be confined to the designated "Anomalous Personnel Storage Area 3B." The containment area must be equipped with soundproofing measures to prevent the entity from detecting external noises. Personnel entering the containment zone must wear sound-dampening footwear and avoid making sudden movements.

In the event personnel need to interact with the Stretched Accountant directly, they must avoid making eye contact and speak in calm, low tones. Any physical containment failure should be reported immediately, and personnel are to evacuate the area until the entity can be subdued using tranquilizing measures.